Dear Sir or Madam,

Good news: price reductions!

We have been able to reduce product costs mainly due to a steady increase in product demand. This has enabled us to purchase larger quantities. Furthermore, continuous efforts to increase the reliability of our products have resulted in lower service and repair costs.

We were also able to reduce our overhead/revenue ratio thanks to increasing sales volumes and investments in advanced IT solutions. In order to generate more growth, we aim to take advantage of these positive developments.

Next to long term investments in marketing, sales and product development we have therefore decided to reduce the prices of several products.
